

Dear Sirs and Madams:

It is against the law for a broadcasting company using the public airwaves to air what is essentially a political advertisement free of charge. Sinclair Broadcasting is proposing to do that with its piece against John Kerry. If you allow it to go ahead with this broadcast, the law insists that you must also allow a broadcast on the same stations owned by this conglomerate of a piece on behalf of John Kerry of the same length, also before the election on Nov. 2, 2004.

Thank you,
Sidney Mullen
